2 COUNTIANS ARRESTED IN $600 ROBBERY

Completing investigations into a $600 home robbery and the attempted robbery of an elderly St. Thomas area man, State police of the Chambersburg substation have announced the arrest of four adults, two of them from Adams County.

Being held in the Franklin County jail in lieu of bond on a charge of assault and attempted robbery are Harold S. Shatzer, of Fannettsburg, and James F. Garner, of Gardners.

Also jailed here in lieu of bond were Garner's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Jeannette Grace Garner, of Gardners, and Mildred L. Wood, of Richmond Furnace. They have been charged with burglary and larceny.

MAN "ROUGHED UP"

A 17-year-old juvenile being held in the juvenile detention quarters in the courthouse annex is implicated in the crimes charged both to the two men and the two women, according to police.

The charges in the two cases were filed before Justice of the Peace Charles J. Curfman, of Fannettsburg.

According to police, Mrs. Garner and Miss Wood are accused of entering the home of Anna Margaret Glass in Richmond Furnace on March 22 and stealing $600 in cash.

Garner and Shatzer are accused of "roughing up" John W. Rosenberry of St. Thomas R. 1 on the night of April 18 in an attempt to take money from him.

IKE MENTIONS 2 "GOOD MEN" FOR GOP IN '64

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower seems to favor a free-for-all contest for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower suggested at a Rochester, N.Y., news conference Friday that Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Thorton B. Morton, R-Ky., would make good nominees.

This was immediately interpreted in party ranks here as an indication Eisenhower hasn't much hankering for either Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., or New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller as the standard bearer.

The former president was represented as still in a slow burn over a crack made by Goldwater several weeks ago that "one Eisenhower in a generation is enough." The general also was said to have found it difficult to forget Rockefeller's 1960 contention that the nation's military posture had been allowed to deteriorate.

DEPENDS ON JOB

Despite Romney's repeated denials that he is a candidate or intends to become one, Eisenhower said the governor would have to be considered for the 1964 nomination if he "does a good job in Michigan."

He denied, however, that he was promoting Romney for the nomination. He said anyone who said that "is just completely off his rocker."

Noting that Rockefeller and others are possibilities, Eisenhower added:

"There is another possibility I hear being mentioned more—Sen. Thorton B. Morton, a very able man from Kentucky."

Morton, former GOP national chairman and now head of the party's senatorial campaign committee, came up quickly with a disavowal of any such ambitions.

"I think it's just a lot of talk and nothing is going to come of it," he said.

SIXTH GRADERS VISIT JR. HIGH

The Sixth Grade classes of Franklin Twp. and Gettysburg were conducted through the junior high school Friday morning in order to acquaint them with the junior high school building they will enter in the fall.

Some 300 youngsters were taken to the building in buses where they gathered in the auditorium for an orientation. H. Edgar Riegle, superintendent of schools, made some welcoming remarks and Clifford B. Snowberger,

LOCAL WEATHER

Yesterday's high — 66
Last night's low — 56
Today at 9 a.m. — 65
Today at 11 a.m. — 69
Rain overnight — 1.28 inches

Welcome Rains Total 1.28 Inches

Welcome showers that began Friday afternoon and continued into this morning mounted to a total of 1.28 inches at The Gettysburg Times weather station, making it the heaviest rain here in more than seven months.

The overnight showers brought almost as much rain as was received here in the entire month of April. It brought the May rainfall total to 1.63 inches which is a little short of normal for this stage in the month. Normal rainfall for the month of May is 4.19 inches.

April was the driest here in 17 years and the rainfall shortage here for the first four months of the year was 2.52 inches. That shortage came after a five-inch shortage for 1962 and a two-inch shortage in 1961. April had only 1.36 inches of rain.

LIBRARY DRIVE EXTENDED; SEE FINAL SUCCESS

With reports already received described as "promising for the success of the campaign," Dr. Harry F. Baughman, fund campaign chairman for the Adams County Public Library's appeal for $100,000, said today the drive is being extended to the end of May.

Dr. Baughman said that, with the advanced gifts section moving toward completion of its task, $32,400 has already been reported from this division of the campaign organization. Some of the volunteer canvassers are yet to be heard from as they are holding their final report until they have completed their assignments.

Cocaptains for this division are Mrs. Philip M. Jones and Atty. Charles W. Wolf and the division works under the general supervision of C. P. Keefe of the library's board of directors.

LEWIS MEMORIAL GIFT

The two other divisions which are at work, the primary gifts headed by Clark Smith and the major gifts unit headed by Atty. Donald G. Oyley, began their work later than the advanced gifts unit and have a very large territory to cover, Dr. Baughman said. (Continued On Page 2)

Seeking Summer Jobs For Students

With hundreds of county young people registered with the State Employment Service for summer or regular jobs, the state staff has undertaken to help find jobs.

"The special registration evening we held recently indicated high school age young people in the county have a real desire to work and now we are looking for jobs for them," an office spokesman said. A great variety of positions are sought from ham radio and TV repairmen to grass-cutters, tutors and mothers' helpers.

The Gettysburg Youth Center members will deliver postcard order blanks throughout the community but persons missed in that distribution may call 4-1174 and ask for "youth power" to place orders for summer workers.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

William L. Mellors, 256 E. Middle St., was discharged this week from the Lebanon Veterans Hospital where he had been a patient for more than a year suffering from an arthritic condition.

Senate Okays Increase In Sales And Cigarette Tax

HARRISBURG (AP)—Proposed increases in the sales and cigarette taxes to raise $128.65 million in additional revenue were approved by the Republican-controlled Senate Friday night.

Republicans rejected 16 Democratic amendments during four hours' debate, then passed the two measures on their own strength by identical votes of 27-23.

The sales tax bill, designed to raise $102.5 million by boosting the rate from 4 to 5 per cent—highest in the nation—goes back to the House for debate on Senate amendments.

But the measure does not tax clothing and shoes as originally proposed by Gov. Scranton under a 4 1/2 per cent rate.

HOUSE ACTS MAY 28

House action on the sales tax amendments is expected May 28, the day after both chambers return from a week-long primary election recess.

No amendments were inserted by the Senate in the cigarette bill, which would raise $26 million by raising the tax from six to eight

100 CIVIL WAR BUFFS ATTEND DINNER FRIDAY

Dr. Frederick Tilberg, National Park historian, Friday evening told approximately 100 Civil War Round Table members from New York, Connecticut, New Jersey, Washington, D. C. and Canada that the Union Army won the Civil War because of its "solid strength... advantageous position... and determination to hold the line at Gettysburg."

President Thomas J. Mullins presided at the banquet following a cocktail hour, and in the course of his introductions of officers and special guests of the organization said:

"We are especially grateful to The Gettysburg Times for the excellent coverage and attention they have given to our group." He urged all members to "take home extra copies of The Times because all your names are in today's story, and there will be pictures of some of us in Saturday's paper." He commended the newspaper for its interest in all groups dedicated to the study of the Civil War.

He discussed the significance of Gettysburg in the Civil War at a banquet in the Hotel Gettysburg where members of the New York Civil War Round Table are meeting for a three-day observance of the centennial of the battle. The group last visited Gettysburg in 1958. Dr. Robert Bloom, head of the history department of Gettysburg College, will address this evening's dinner meeting in the hotel.

LAW MORALE

In relating events leading up to the Battle of Gettysburg, Dr. Tilberg said that Jefferson Davis and his cabinet members had so much confidence in General Lee's army that "they counted on him to produce again and again," and because peace movements were under way in the north they felt that "the time was right to take the war into the north to bring further pressures on the Union Army." He reminded the group also that the southern army was suffering from heavy losses of men and material and that morale was low, prompting Davis to order immediate action.

"New York City was opposing the draft, and in the Ohio Valley there was a strong feeling of separation from the Union," he said. The south was aware of a demoralized public spirit in the north and decided that a battle in the South Mountain foothills could be of a defensive nature.

DECISION HERE

"When the fingers of the two armies touched early on July 1 near Gettysburg," Dr. Tilberg said, both armies found themselves in a position of being unable to withdraw to more desirable and previously planned positions. "Lee faced the decision to continue the battle at Gettysburg or withdraw and return to Virginia."

Dr. Tilberg said the Gettysburg campaign was designed to relieve the pressures at Vicksburg and in Tennessee, but that (Continued On Page 2)

HOMER ON LEAVE

Ambassador to the Netherlands John S. Rice and Mrs. Rice arrived in Gettysburg Friday afternoon to spend the weekend at their home on W. Broadway. Ambassador Rice will confer next week with State Department officials in Washington and will return to Gettysburg next weekend. He will deliver the commencement address at Gettysburg College. The Rices are on a six-week home leave.

Senate Okays Increase In Sales And Cigarette Tax

cents a pack. The measure will go to the governor as soon as it is signed by leaders of both houses.

Scranton wants the two bills to go into effect June 1 to help balance his $1.12 billion budget for 1963-64. The effective date is a month before the July 1 start of the new fiscal year, but the extra time is needed to ensure a full 12 months of collections, according to the governor.

FIRST SINCE 1959

It would be the first increase in the sales tax since 1959 when the rate was increased in two stages from 3 to 4 per cent.

Most of the Senate amendments attempt to clarify exactly what is taxable and what is exempt under the bill, which makes the sales tax general rather than selective.

Another amendment would give retailers a 1 per cent commission on the amount of tax they collect for the Commonwealth. Democrats in 1961 lopped off a 2 per cent commission to the merchants. The restored 1 per cent would cost the Commonwealth some $5 million yearly.

RIFLE RIDERS WILL BE FETED HERE TODAY

They will arrive here about 6 o'clock this evening. There are 14 in the party.

The Gettysburg Travel Council, asked by the state Department of Commerce to make arrangements to greet the riders, will have members of Curvin Heiss' 87th Pennsylvania unit in Civil War costume and women in 1863 styles at Lincoln Square to welcome the riders. ## BATTLE FLAG WILL FLY AT FIELD MASS

The "Green Rag," which members of the 69th Infantry Regiment carried at Gettysburg a century ago, will again be seen here June 29 in connection with the Field Mass at the Eternal Light Peace Memorial.

Rev. Fr. Thomas J. O'Donnell, associate director of the University of Notre Dame Foundation, at a meeting of the Conewago Deanery committee for the Field Mass Friday evening in Xavier hall here, said that the U.S. Army unit in New York which is the successor to the "Fighting 69th" of Civil War and World War I and 11 fame plans to bring the Civil War flag of the unit to Gettysburg for the Mass.

The flag, crisp and new when the Civil War began, was shredded so badly during the battle that it became known as "The Green Rag." The unit carried the flag throughout the Civil War.

SECRETARY SPEAKS

Members of the regiment will accompany the flag here and will carry it in a procession of bishops, a cardinal, priests and others from the Peace Light Inn to the Peace Memorial preceding the Mass.

James E. Armstrong, executive secretary of the University of Notre Dame Alumni Association and president of the American Alumni Association, said: "This is more than a Field Mass sponsored by the Notre Dame alumni. Members interested in joining the field ride on Sunday should get in touch with LeRoy H. Winebrenner, secretary of the local riding club, for the hour.

VOTERS NAME CHOICES FROM AMONG 15 ON NEXT TUESDAY

Adams County 22,597 voters will have the widest choice in years when they mark their choices from among the Republican and Democratic candidates for county commissioner at Tuesday's primary election. Fifteen men are running for the four nominations.

Much of the interest in the forthcoming primary has centered on the commissioner "battle" because of the large number running. The Republicans have nine men from whom to select their two candidates. The Democrats will choose among six men to fill the two nominations to be made by that party.

Under the laws governing the selection of county commissioners, each party names two candidates. At the general election in November the three who receive the highest number of votes will be the county's commissioners for the next four years. The method is designed to insure that two political parties will have representation on the board.

BIG SALARY JUMP

The commissioners to be nominated Tuesday and elected in November will be the first to serve under the rules for Sixth Class counties.

While the county became Sixth class in 1961, the present board of commissioners, E. Donald Scott, Clarence J. Waybright and Charles B. Bender, was elected while the county was seventh class. They complete their terms under the seventh class rules.

As commissioners under the seventh class, they receive $4,200 a year and must hold one meeting a week. Under the sixth class regulations starting in January, the commissioners will receive $7,000 a year and must meet twice a week.

FOUR ARE VETERANS

While the number of legislated meetings is doubled, actually the number of meetings in which the county executive group engages will not be greatly enlarged. Normally the commissioners meet at least 150 times a year but under seventh class rules only 32 are their legislated meetings.

That Adams County is an agricultural county is reflected in the candidates for the commissioners office—at least nine of them have some connection with farming.

Ages of the candidates range from 30 to 66. Thirteen of the 15 have held public office, ranging (Continued On Page 3)

NAVY OFFICERS LEAVE SHELTER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty-four naval reserve officers have emerged unwashed and unshaved after four days in a hole in the ground.

Only two of them knew what lay ahead when they were locked in a test shelter at the Naval Research Institute in suburban Bethesda, Md., shortly after noon Monday. All were from scientific and technical units.

Nor did they know when they were getting out until the door was flung open Friday. They happily filed out none the worse for wear, but a little the worse for lack of water.

WATER RATIONED

The supply of water was deliberately limited so there was no washing or shaving.

The Navy said this was the first time men of science had been subjected without warning to the rigors of underground isolation simulating those that would be faced in a nuclear war.

Nobody got sick, although Laurence P. Watke, Department of Agriculture biologist at Ames, Iowa, developed a toothache. His cavity was plugged with material from a shelter first aid kit by one of the doctors in the group, surgeon John J. Walsh of Wakefield, R.I.

The Navy boasted that the 34 immediately fell into traditional Navy discipline under command of the senior officer aboard and within 30 minutes divisions were formed and everyone had his job.

CONTRACTORS WARN CITY IN JOB STOPPAGE

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The city was told Friday by three subcontractors who had been ordered to stop work on the Municipal Services Building that it will be held financially responsible for damages.

The city ordered the work stopped pending a report by the Human Relations Commission, expected early next week, on alleged racial discrimination in hiring.

The contractors said the city action was "arbitrary and without legal basis." They denied they violated provisions of their contracts or that they permitted racial discrimination in hiring.

The firms are the Daniel J. Keating Co., the W. M. Anderson Co., and the Willard Electric Construction Co.

SUSPEND WORK

The work suspension was ordered Wednesday after a "sit-in" demonstration in Mayor James H. J. Tate's reception room in city hall by the Philadelphia Congress of Racial Equality (CORE). A group of construction workers staged another "sit-in" Thursday in the mayor's office to protest the work halt.

Earlier Friday, representatives of unions working for John McShain, Inc., general contractor, had requested the city pay the employees for the lost time.

Fred T. Corleto, managing director, said the request represented a legal matter between the union attorneys and the city's Law Department. He said he referred "the entire matter to the Law Department."

HOPE TO FORM FLOWER CLUB

Adams County's 4-H leaders today made a special plea for boys and girls aged 10 to 20 to join the proposed Gettysburg 4-H Flower Club.

A meeting of those interested in the club will be held Monday afternoon from 3:45 until 5 o'clock at the West St. Branch of the Gettysburg National Bank.

Associate County Agent Duane Duncan said the "immediately after school hour" was chosen for the meeting with the hope that most youngsters would be free at that time to attend a meeting to see if they may be interested in a club in which they could learn more about raising flowers — both indoor and outdoor varieties.

Mrs. R. H. Powell, Gettysburg R. 3, and Mrs. Robert Reynolds, Gettysburg R. 2, have been named leaders for the club by the Gettysburg Garden Club which is promoting flower development by providing leaders for the 4-H activities in that line.

Throughout the county some 60 youths are carrying projects in flowers while members of community clubs. The proposed Gettysburg 4-H Flower Club is the first attempt to organize a strictly flower club for 4-H members in the county.

So far four youngsters, Marie Oyster, Jane Marlin, Charlene Williams and Skip Reynolds, all of Gettysburg R. D., have signed for the club. Membership in the club will permit participation in all 4-H activities in the county.

RIGHTEOUS CAUSE

"That men must stand above and command the institutions of their own creation; that individual freedom is the well-spring of our national greatness; that the simple faith of our colonial forebears is the most precious jewel in the heritage they have bequeathed to us; that he is himself only a symbol of great human forces laboring in a righteous cause; such are the convictions that have sustained a lifetime of service to his country. The nobility of his ideal and the pursuit of its realization have inspired a hymn of praise throughout the land. And now the University of Rochester calls once again to the moment of honor Dwight David Eisenhower, in tribute to the value of a soldier and a patriot's devotion."

President Wallis' response as follows:

"Dwight David Eisenhower, soldier, patriot, beloved American — your countrymen are happy to recall once again the magnitude of your services in peace and war. The University of Rochester confers upon you the degree of Doctor of Laws, admitting you to all its rights and privileges."

The citation accompanying the degree, read by Rochester orator Bernard N. Schilling, read as follows:

"In Thucydides' History of the Peloponnesian War, Pericles makes this proud assertion to the Athenian assembly: 'I am a lover of my country, and incorruptible.' The most reluctant partisan will grant the virtue of unblemished patriotism as well to Dwight David Eisenhower."

Citation For Honorary Degree Lauds Eisenhower

Former President Eisenhower received the honorary Doctor of Laws degree at the inauguration of University of Rochester President W. Allen Wallis Friday morning, in Rochester.

The citation accompanying the degree, read by Rochester orator Bernard N. Schilling, read as follows:

"In Thucydides' History of the Peloponnesian War, Pericles makes this proud assertion to the Athenian assembly: 'I am a lover of my country, and incorruptible.' The most reluctant partisan will grant the virtue of unblemished patriotism as well to Dwight David Eisenhower."

"Drawing upon an inheritance of ancestral courage, energy and sobriety, he set forth upon a career destined for the summit in war and peace. Victorious in a war that made ambition virtue indeed, he shunned the insolence of conquest to employ the arts of temperate negotiation in the cause of peace."

"In spontaneous gratitude the vast majority of his countrymen twice have summoned him to their highest honor."

TEN YEARS AGO

Norman W. Storrick Rides

Rural Route Last Time Today:

When Norman W. Storrick, 59 W.

Post Office about 8:30 o'clock this morning, he was starting on his last trip over Route 4 (Harrisburg Rd.) as a rural mail carrier.

Wednesday Mrs. Storrick, after driving, by both horse and automobile, more than 550,000 miles in his more than 47 years as a carrier, will begin to "take things easy."

His actual retirement will not begin officially until June 30, but

Mr. Storrick has several weeks of of accrued leave due and so today

was his last day working for Uncle Sam.

Mr. Storrick was born on a farm in Straban Twp., on the Hanover Rd., and in his earlier years worked for his father, the late William C. Storrick, on the farm. He was also employed "on the street cars" in Harrisburg before starting as a rural carrier

On May 12, 1906, he went to work as a substitute carrier, and was appointed regular carrier

January 1, 1907, succeeding the late Hugh M. McIlhenny, one of the original carriers when the rural free delivery was established. The route was originally

Route 7, and for 11 years, Mr.

Storrick covered the then 24 miles

daily, except Sundays, by horse-drawn vehicle. The route was increased to 34 miles, then 50, and on May 16, 1952, to 53 miles. He has between 1,400 and 1,500 "customers" on his route now.

Mr. Storrick's successor has not been named. John Duterra will take it over temporarily. Mr.

Duterra, an electrician at Guldens Station, is the regular substitute on this route.

Local Student Will Attend Coronation: Phelps Pennington, eldest son of Mrs. Elizabeth

Pennington, 412 Carlisle St., and a member of the graduating class at Gettysburg High School, will leave Friday for Toronto,

Canada, enroute to England and the coronation and a summer

tour of the British Isles and the Continent.

At Toronto, he will meet his uncle, Mrs. Arthur C. Pennington, and cousin, Miss Diana Pennington, whom he will accompany on the trip to Europe. After witnessing the coronation, the local youth will spend the remainder of the summer on the European tour.

Today's Talk

THE MOTHER HEART

I was once told of a little girl who walked out into the sunshine of a morning, in one of our southern states. She had been sent to get the daily paper from its place in the tin box by the road.

As she approached, a lovely bluebird flew from the box. The child's face was wreathed in smiles and her small body vibrated with joy. She ran to the house and told of her discovery. Then she wrote this letter to the office of the paper in the big city near by.

"Please tell Mr. Publisher not to put our Daddy's paper in our box, even when it is raining. Because a bluebird has made her nest in the paper box and we would rather have the paper wet than to have the bluebird disturbed. Our cat ate up the little bluebirds when the nest was in a hollow fence post and she cannot climb up and get in the paper box."

Just to prove that big corporations have big hearts, the newspaper publisher gave orders to have another box erected near the bluebird's home — and thus gave further recognition to the great mother love that is so all powerful in the world.

That little girl will never forget that kindness on the part of the man who saw to it that her beautiful love was kept warm in its budding mother heart.

One afternoon I got my hammer, saw and nails, and made a little wren house. I hung it to a branch in the overhanging tree above the spring near my home. For many years now there have been little families raised there — and we wait for the new family every spring. Soon that sweet little warble will be heard and the tiny sticks will be carried to the small home down there by the dripping water and the big rocks.

Anything that disturbs, worries or takes from the beauty of the mother heart in this world, shrinks the entire world up a bit. Many a man and woman has started life all over by just living in the heart of a baby!

TIDE TOWARD PROTESTANT
UNITY GAINS

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

DES MOINES Iowa (AP)—Efforts toward Protestant unity were pictured today as nearing a "put up or shut up" stage.

Presbyterian leaders said the conciliatory tide is gaining momentum. They predicted several churches will start drafting a specific union plan within two years—or else quit talking about it.

"I think that by two years from now, there will be a beginning in writing a plan of union, or else we will have found that no plan of union is possible," said the Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake.

CONSULTATIONS GOING ON

Dr. Blake, chief executive officer of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., referred to a consultation going on between representatives of six major church bodies about possible unification into one church, "truly catholic, truly reformed and truly evangelical."

Both he and the Rev. Dr. James I. McCord, chairman of the consultation, said they were optimistic that agreements will be found for launching the blueprint. "The situation has been very promising, more so than could have been expected," Dr. McCord told a news conference, held in connection with the United Presbyterian General Assembly, BEGAN IN '61

Besides that church, others involved in the talks are the Methodists, Episcopalians, United Evangelical Brethren, Disciples of Christ, and United Church (including Congregationalists).

The talks began in 1961 as the result of a plea made in a sermon by Dr. Blake in San Francisco's Episcopal Cathedral. Altogether, the churches include about 22 million members.

KENNEDY TO VISIT SOUTH
ON SATURDAY

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President John F. Kennedy comes south Saturday to honor a university and the Tennessee Valley Authority, start a dam and—at the end of his two-state tour—come face-to-face with Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

It is the President's first venture into the Deep South since the recent racial disorders at Birmingham, Nashville and elsewhere in Dixie.

Kennedy's meeting with Wallace, an outspoken segregationist, was scheduled at Muscle Shoals, at the TVA's 30th anniversary celebration, and at Huntsville. Wallace accused Kennedy this week of setting up a military dictatorship by dispatching 3,000 soldiers into Alabama for possible riot duty at Birmingham.

NASHVILLE PARADE

The President was scheduled to arrive here in mid-morning after a 90 minute flight from Washington.

Following an eight-mile motorcade through the heart of Nashville, he was to deliver the principal address at a program commemorating the founding of Vanderbilt University 90 years ago. A crowd in excess of 20,000 was expected at Vanderbilt's football stadium for the talk.

During the 45-minute program, Kennedy was to press a gold telegraph key touching off a blast to move the first dirt for the $43.2 million Cordell Hull Dam, 55 miles to the east. Named for the late secretary of state, the U.S. Army Engineers' dam will be on the Cumberland River.

LUNCHEON HOST

From the stadium, the President will go by car to the Tennessee governor's mansion where Gov. Frank Clement was to play host at a luncheon. Top political figures from Tennessee and Alabama were invited.

At 1:30 p.m. CST, Kennedy planned to depart by helicopter for Muscle Shoals, about 120 miles to the south.

In addition to seeing Wallace, the President planned to speak at the TVA ceremonies and visit some TVA installations before going on to Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville, Ala., for another brief talk.

Wright, 160½, Tacoma, stopped Ramon Hernandez, 163½, Tijuana, Mexico, 6.

It was the fourth straight loss for the Pirates and their ninth in 11 games.

Howard, who recently went 0-for-20, picked up his first run batted in with a first-inning double and got two more in the fifth when he hit his sixth homer. Oliver hit a two-run triple in the fourth.

Garrett nailed down District III honors Friday with a 36-hole total of 145, including the only sub par round of the day-long event.

Garrett, displaying strong mid woods and a superb putter, fashioned a neat one under par 70 in the second round with five bogeys, four birdies, one eagle and 8 pars over the 6,055 Hershey Country Club course.

BOSTON LOSES AND CHICAGO REGAINS LEAD

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Another superb pitching job by Ted Bowsfield and a Herculean hitting performance by Bob Allison have scrambled the standings at the opposite ends of the American League.

Bowsfield, who no-hit Minnesota for eight innings last Saturday before settling for a two-hit victory, turned in a masterful three-hitter Friday night as the Kansas City Athletics blanked Boston 2-0. The setback halted the Red Sox' winning string at five games and dumped them out of first place—six percentage points back off the Chicago White Sox, whose game at Baltimore was rained out.

BLASTS 3 HOMERS
Allison blasted three home runs in consecutive at bats, and the faltering Minnesota Twins struggled out off the cellar with an 11-4 romp over Cleveland. The Twins had dropped four straight, seven of their last eight and 10 of 12 before eruping against the Indians—but they now hold ninth place by one-half game over Washington.

Joe Pepitone of the New York Yankees and Leon Wagner of Los Angeles also put on a display of muscle with two homers apiece as the Yanks nipped the Angels 4-3. Pepitone's pair of two-run clouts supported the fifty-four-hit pitching of Jim Bouton.

The Detroit-Washington twing doubleheader was called because of rain in the second inning of the opening game, erasing a grand-slam homer by the Senators' Larry Osborne and a solo homer by the Tigers' Al Kaline.

Local Golfers In Hershey Tourney
Bob Davies, Gettysburg Country Club, and Wayne Hardin, Navy football coach, failed to make the championship flight Friday in the 10th annual Hershey best-ball medal play tournament when they closed with a 74. It took a score of one under par 72 or less to make the 16-team championship flight.

Other local teams in the tournament turned in good scores as follows: Dr. Jim Sheppard and Dr. Donald Wickerham, 77; Russell and Tom Maitland, 77; Ken Wenk and Tom Cline, 83.

The tournament concludes on Sunday.

Major League Stars
PITCHING — Don Nottbart, Colts, hurled second no-hitter of season, permitting only four base runners, but allowing a run, in 4-1 triumph over Philadelphia.

BATTING — Bob Allison, Twins, hit three consecutive home runs and drove in six runs in 11-4 wallop of Cleveland.

Ernie Davis, Top College Football Player In 1961, Victim Of Leukemia Today

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Ernie Davis, the nation's top collegiate football player of 1961, died in Lakeside Hospital early today.

The 23-year-old All-America halfback and Heisman Trophy winner was stricken with leukemia at the College All-Star camp last July and was prevented from playing with the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League last season.

He underwent a conditioning program after the football season ended and played basketball with a team of Browns' players, but quit in February. He had been working on a film study for the Browns.

FUNERAL TUESDAY

A spokesman for the Browns said funeral arrangements have not been completed, but said services probably would be held Monday or Tuesday in Elmira, N.Y., Davis' home town.

Davis died at 2 a.m., but the announcement was withheld by the Browns for nearly seven hours until his next of kin were notified.

He entered the hospital Thursday afternoon, apparently unaware that death was imminent. He told Browns' officials he probably would be out in a couple of days. He had been undergoing periodic checkups at the hospital for several months.

Arthur B. Modell, Browns' president, said, "It will be a long time before we see a boy like Ernie Davis again, as an athlete or as a man."

UNAWARE OF ILLNESS

The diagnosis of acute leukemia was withheld from Davis and the public for several weeks. Doctors first diagnosed it definitely in an Evanston, Ill., hospital last Aug. 1. It later was confirmed by seven medical experts who examined laboratory specimens in Cleveland.

Browns' club officials held an "off-the-record" news conference on Aug. 9 to explain the situation to news media representatives. It was at that conference that information was relayed on a confidential basis that Davis had only six to 12 months to live.

Davis attended the big double-header exhibition football game in Cleveland on the night of last Aug. 8. As he was introduced, Davis walked across the field in the spotlight, to a tremendous ovation from the 77,683 fans.

THRILLED BY GAME
Later in the dressing room, Davis said it was a thrill for him to attend the game and see his teammates. Davis had attended a couple of practice sessions at Hiram College, each time accompanied by a hospital attendant.

It was evident that Davis was unaware of his condition that night. He thanked many of the players as they trooped by and gave him their good wishes. Davis stood shyly in a corner sipping a soft drink as the players whooped it up in the dressing room.

Davis brightened up considerably when Lou (The Toe) Groza introduced three of his young sons to Davis. "This is Ernie Davis, Jeff," Groza said to one of his boys. "Isn't he a good-looking fellow?" And Jeff thrust out a program and said softly, "Can I have your autograph?"

"SIMPLE TOUCH"
It was a simple touch, but the Browns' great place-kicker managed to give a big thrill to his son, and Davis—and to all those who watched the scene.

Davis had big shoes to fill when he came to Syracuse University.

He was following the great Jim Brown, who was already starting on the pro gridiron for the Browns.

Coming to Syracuse two years after Brown left, Davis rewrote almost all the school marks set by the big fullback. Davis averaged 6.6 yards a carry in 360 rushing attempts for 2,386 yards in his three years at Syracuse. Brown made 2,091 yards in 361 attempts.

Davis scored 220 points, compared with Brown's 187.

In 1961 Davis capped his career by receiving the Heisman Trophy, the first Negro ever to win the coveted award. He was chosen the Associated Press Player of the Year.

DRAFTED IN 1962
Davis was the first collegiate player drafted for the 1962 season — by the Washington Redskins and the Buffalo Bills of the rival American Football League.

The Browns traded Bobby Mitchell, a speedy halfback, plus their first draft choice, halfback Leroy Jackson, to Washington to get the draft rights to Davis.

After a spirited bidding war, the Browns signed Davis to a three-year contract for $65,000, plus a bonus of $15,000.

As it turned out, the Browns never got to see him play in a Cleveland uniform.

Davis was first hospitalized in Evanston, Ill., in mid-July. Doctors had difficulty in stopping the bleeding after wisdom teeth were extracted. He was released after one day and rejoined the College All-Stars.

SWOLLEN GLANDS
On Tuesday, July 31, Davis reported to practice with swollen glands around his neck. He was sent to the hospital the next day when the glands became painful and he ran a fever. Then Dr. Franklin Kaiser began a series of tests which disclosed the blood ailment.

Accompanied by Modell, Davis was flown from Chicago to Cleveland on Aug. 3. He entered Marymount Hospital.

Last October doctors said the leukemia was in a state of remission and pronounced Davis physically fit to resume his football training program. He underwent workouts, but never got into a game with the Browns.

Then, six weeks ago his blood started deteriorating. Apparently unaware of the seriousness of his condition, Davis continued working as a salesman for a soft-drink distributor in addition to conducting the film study for the Browns.

Davis was born Dec. 14, 1939, at New Salem, Pa. His father died when Ernie was young and he moved with his mother to Elmira, N.Y. She remarried and is now Mrs. Arthur Radford. For a time, Davis lived with his grandparents, then rejoined his mother when he was a Seventh Grader.

He starred in basketball at Elmira Free Academy High School. His high school football coach, Marty Harrigan, once said, "Ernie is next door to a legend. He's the greatest athlete to come out of here. He's one of those once-in-a-lifetime athletes."

FOUR HORSES IN PRAEKNESS SPORT DERBIES

By GEORGE BOWEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP)—Four of the Preakness horses today will be sporting derbies and hoping to pick up a cloak of Black-Eyed Susans.

The derbies are figurative and the Susans artificial. But owners of 3-year-olds prize them as much as the money.

The 87th Preakness brings together the winners of derbies from both coasts, the Midwest and Kentucky.

John W. Galbreath's Chateaugay boasts the most cherished, the Kentucky Derby of two weeks ago. T. D. Buhl's Lemon Twist wears the most recent, the Illinois Derby of last Saturday.

Michael and Jack Stein's On My Honor was the California Derby winner April 20, and Rex Ellis' Candy Spots took the Florida Derby March 30.

OTHER ENTRIES
The other four Preakness entries, Harry F. Guggenheim's Never Bend, Jacnet Stables' Country Squire, Mrs. Charles D. Morgan's Sky Wonder, and William B. Robinson's Rural Retreat would settle right now for winning a blanket of Black-Eyed Susans—actually daisies with their centers painted with black shoe polish.

And, of course, the winner's prize of $127,500 which can't be topped in any race for 3-year-olds.

Candy Spots was undefeated in six races entering the Kentucky Derby. Now the spotlight is on Chateaugay, winner of all four states this year and causing wonder if he is the long-awaited ninth Triple Crown champion.

None since Citation in 1948 has been able to conquer the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont, which is next month. The decision in the Preakness will be shown on television 4:30-5:00 p.m. EST through CBS.

TOP RUNNERS SHARE HONORS

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Little Jim Beatty of the United States and Peter Snell of New Zealand shared victory tributes today but there won't be any need to revise the world record book of track and field after Friday night's Coliseum Relays.

None was threatened. A crowd of 32,450 turned out for this 23rd annual event, with these major results:

Snell, world record holder for the mile, easily won in what he frankly conceded was the disappointing time of 4:00.3.

Beatty, at 28 America's premier distance runner, conquered Murray Halberg in the 5,000 meters in 13:57.4.

Arizona State University's mile relay team ran it off in 3:05.2, missing its own world record of 3:04.5.

John Pennel of Northeast Louisiana State, who has a world pole vault record of 16 feet 6 1/2 inches, who has bettered 16 feet five times this year, bowed out at 15-0.

The lone double winner was Bob Hayes of Florida A&M. He won the 100-yard dash in 9.3 and the 220 in 20.8.

Salt And Minerals Are Often Neglected In The Summer Feeding Of Cattle

By THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Salt and minerals are often neglected in the summer feeding of our beef cattle herds. Although it is important to keep summer pasture feed costs low, a constant supply of salt and minerals should be available to cattle the year round.

Tom Piper

A salt and mineral feeder can be built by any amateur carpenter. Such a feeder is a strong wooden box with a partition through the middle. Place salt on one side of the partition and a mineral mixture on the other. A cover or roof protects the mineral supply from the rain. Plans for salt and mineral feeders may be obtained from your county agent's office.

Salt and minerals should be provided in every pasture.

Most commercial mineral mixtures are satisfactory, but herd owners often prepare their own mineral supplement. Usually, a small portion of salt is mixed with the mineral to make it more acceptable to the animals.

SIMPLE MIXTURES

Simple mixtures such as two parts steamed bonemeal and one part trace-mineralized salt, or two parts dicalcium-phosphate and one part trace-mineralized salt provide calcium and phosphorus in correct proportions. Many cattlemen have the mistaken idea that trace-mineralized salt (either loose or in block form) will provide all the minerals required by an animal. This is not true, since two of the important minerals — calcium and phosphorus — are absent in commercial salt preparations. Trace-mineralized salts provide some of the mineral elements which are needed only in trace amounts, but they do not provide calcium and phosphorus. Even though salt is included in the mineral mixture, it should also be fed separately.

A good livestock manager will make salt and a mineral box available at all times.

PLAN FOR WINTER

A majority of poultrymen annually lose the income from the 40 highest-priced eggs of the year simply because they do not start chicks early enough.

Most egg laying flocks are still started in April despite the fact that they will not come into fall egg production until six or seven months later — and after the peak of fall egg prices has passed.

This picture is changing rapidly but there is still room for improvement — and a leveling of egg prices year round. Chicks started in January will produce approximately 40 more fall eggs and will be in full production when egg prices start their annual climb in July and hit a peak in November. Every year is not the same; but year in and year out this is the pattern of egg prices.

REASON FOR DELAY

There was a reason for this delay before the advent of modern brooders and of scientifically-balanced high energy rations. But, modern brooding techniques offer poultrymen an opportunity to start chicks during the winter months.

There are other advantages to starting chicks early. Hatcheries sometimes offer discounts when orders are placed early. Early hatched chicks may grow faster and be less troubled with diseases when care is taken in brooding before field work starts. Furthermore, one or two of the extra large eggs in the fall will often pay for any increased amount of fuel or electricity consumed by the brooders.

Although winter brooding requires careful attention to many details, the better poultrymen have found that their dollar return for each invested hour of labor is best of the entire year. So now that spring brooding is on your mind, why not plan for winter brooding this coming fall?

RIGHT EQUIPMENT

This morning about 40,000 Pennsylvania dairymen milked around one million cows. The staggering total of nine million pounds of milk was removed from the cows and conveyed by hand to the milk house.

Too few dairymen have invested in some of the new milk conveying equipment. There are three

FIGHT FOREST FIRES, SNAKES

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP) — Firefighters, forced to carry portable water tanks and faced with the danger of rattlesnakes, battled a forest fire in an area about 10 miles south of Somerset for several hours before bringing it under control early Friday.

Firemen estimated flames were shooting as high as 80 feet into the air at the height of the blaze, which destroyed more than 300 acres of woodland. No injuries were reported.

Galton Schuck, a state fire warden at Berlin, who estimated the acreage, said the fire broke out Thursday along the Western Maryland Railroad tracks near Rockwood and apparently was started by a spark from a diesel engine.

Firemen said the danger from rattlesnakes in the vicinity was increased by snakes trying to escape from the burning area.

Firefighters also were called on to extinguish some other scattered blazes. These fires were minor.

ASKS CONFIRMATION

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Scranton asked the Senate Friday to confirm appointment of Clyde J. Fertenbaugh Jr., Waynesboro, as justice of the peace for Washington Twp., Franklin County.

Fertenbaugh would succeed Claude M. Harbaugh Jr., who resigned.

different types of machinery to do this chore:

Simplest, but least desirable, is the dumping or pumping station and other milk conveying equipment. Disadvantage of these devices is that the dairyman must carry the milk from the cow to the conveyor.

The second type of milk conveying equipment is a single line system. This pipe line is placed six feet high over the middle of the cow walk-way or litter alley. In the barn at the end of the line is a wash collection unit so the pipe line can be cleaned.

Third and best of these conveyors is an around-the-barn pipe line.

Each of these units has a place. Dairymen should consider every alternative before making a decision on equipment purchase.

DO YOU HAVE CHINCH BUGS IN YOUR LAWN?

Here's a good way to find out! Take a large metal can, such as a coffee can, and cut away both ends to produce a metal tube. Insert the tube several inches into the ground in a suspected area. If the ground is hard, you may find that stepping on the edges helps. Pour water into the portion of the tube remaining above ground. Within five minutes chinch bugs should float to the top if they're present.

Why is it important to know? Chinch bugs can wipe out a lawn in a few days if unchecked. Last year that's just what happened to thousands of homeowners in the Gulf and Atlantic states — from Texas to Massachusetts.

Identification of chinch bugs is not difficult once you find one to examine. Adults are brown to black in color, about one-quarter inch long, and have whitish wings which are folded over. They hover at ground level where they suck juices from stems. Discolored patches of turf are a sign that they're present. Grass first turns yellow, then brown.

Formulations containing ethion, a basic pesticide chemical, have proven highly effective in eradicating chinch bugs. Marketed under many different brand names, ethion-containing compounds are available both in spray and granular forms.

Begin applications promptly once you know chinch bugs are present — they spread rapidly. Even if you don't spot any in your own yard, but you know they're in the neighborhood, it's wise to take action. And whatever chemical formulation you use, follow label instructions to the letter for safest and best results.

35,250 PENNA. FARMERS MAY VOTE TUESDAY

HARRISBURG (AP) — The federal government's proposed wheat control program of 1964 comes up for a vote this Tuesday with a record 35,250 Pennsylvania farmers eligible to cast ballots.

In the past, Pennsylvania has overwhelmingly opposed government controls, indicating that this year's vote could have a sharp impact on the overall outcome.

The U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee at Harrisburg reported Thursday that the number of eligible Pennsylvania voters has swelled because of a provision allowing small producers—those growing less than 15 acres of wheat—to take part.

MAY BE KEY STATE

The committee said 28,279 small producers have registered for the referendum, plus 6,971 wheat farmers who are automatically eligible because they grow more than 15 acres.

At least two thirds of the farmers taking part in the national vote must support the program to put it into effect for next year. Even though Pennsylvania has voted against government controls in the past, the programs have gone into effect because of greater support from farmers in the midwestern wheat producing states.

Pennsylvania could be a key state however this year. Especially if the pattern of opposition continues.

SCRANTON AGAINST IT

The reason is that Pennsylvania uses far more wheat than it produces to feed its huge dairy and poultry industries. Since the federal marketing programs maintain high wheat prices, Pennsylvania farmers generally take the view that such plans work a hardship on them.

Gov. Scranton voiced his opposition to the program this week at his weekly news conference here, labeling it a "detriment" to Pennsylvania.

"If I were a Pennsylvania farmer, I would vote against it," he said.

The plan has the staunch backing of the Kennedy administration.

LISTS POSSIBILITIES

If approved it would: —Establish a mandatory acreage allotment in Pennsylvania of 458,386 acres, compared to 523,258 for the 1963 crop.

—Provide price supports of $2 for 80 per cent of a farmer's crop and $1.30 for the remainder.

—Provide special cash incen-

VIENNA (AP) — Hospital sources said Friday that the condition of King Saud of Saudi Arabia, under treatment here for a stomach ailment, has deteriorated. But there is no immediate cause for alarm, the sources said.

The sources said the King, 61, may have acute stomach ulcers or even cancer.

The king's doctors refused to comment on his condition.

ROME (AP) — Arrangements for the departure of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty from Communist Hungary may take weeks instead of days, observers now believe.

"The matter is now in the hands of the Vatican," Franziskus Cardinal Koenig of Austria said Thursday night on his arrival in Rome. "I do not think there will be a rapid solution."

—Acreage allotments would be assigned, but would not be mandatory.

—Wheat growers who would stay within their allotments would be eligible for price supports at 50 per cent of parity—about a dollar a bushel.

Driver Takes Arms To Wrong Depot

INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa. (AP) — State police in Pennsylvania and Maryland were alerted this week to be on the lookout for a missing Army truck loaded with small arms and weapons.

Military officials at the Indiantown Gap Military Reservation reported Wednesday that the truck was long overdue from Fort Meade, Md. Rumors began to spread that the vehicle might have been hijacked.

The search came to a surprising end Thursday. The truck driver, whose name was not disclosed, telephoned that he had gone to the wrong place—the Tobyhanna Military Depot some 100 miles northeast of his original destination.

—Sources in Budapest, where Cardinal Mindszenty has been in self-imposed exile in the U.S. Legation for the last 6½ years, said Wednesday that the Hungarian cardinal probably would be free to go to Rome in a few days.

Careful Label Study Aids In Stretching Food Dollar

MRS. HELEN D. TUNISON
Home Economist

Quality, amount, brand name, ingredients and similar information on food labels help a homemaker make better use of her food dollar. Labels are a clue to package contents. A word description on a label is often more reliable than a picture of the finished product. Pictures may be misleading as to color, texture, size and shape of product, and according to federal laws, all processed foods shipped across state lines must have useful information on the label. A true statement of quantity aids the shopper in comparing cost of equal amounts of similar foods. Labeling a food by its common or usual name helps prohibit the sale of one food under the name of another.

MRS. TUNISON

Although the number of servings in the container is not required by law, such information is helpful. Variety and style of food are often included. A label on a can of peaches may indicate if the fruit is sliced or halved and if the peaches are clingstone or freestone. Brand names also help shoppers know what to expect from a product. Once a consumer finds a brand that meets her needs she can continue to buy that product.

PARTY FOOD

If you're giving a party for your graduate, plan ahead and you will ease the workload. Refreshments you can make ahead of time will let you relax and mingle with the guests. Choose foods suitable to the age group you will be serving. Whether the guests are your graduate's friends or your family and relatives, plan food that is attractive, nutritious and easy to serve and eat.

Protein foods that should be hits with the guests include tiny cream puffs filled with favorite cheese, meat or egg salad; cheese balls, a dip for chips or crackers and deviled eggs. For a group of teenagers, fill trays and bowls with ingredients for do-it-yourself sandwiches and sundaes.

Dessert could be the guest of honor's favorite cake or pie. For something different, try tart shells just large enough to hold one sugared fresh strawberry or a teaspoon of a favorite fruit or pudding filling. Fortune cookies with ice cream or a fruit dessert are appropriate. For better nutrition, serve these foods with a fruit or milk punch.

ARGENTINA IS BRACING FOR MORE ISSUES

By ISAAC A. LEVI

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Uneasy Argentina braced today for more trouble as President Jose Maria Guido banned followers of ex-dictator Juan D. Peron from seeking executive posts in July 7 elections.

Guido's decree barred candidates of the Peronist-front Union Popular Party from running for president, vice president, governor or mayor. They were limited to contesting legislative posts.

There was no immediate reaction from the Peronists, but repercussions were considered a certainty.

At stake in the elections, in addition to federal executive and legislative posts, are the governorships and legislatures of 22 provinces and the mayorships, councils and boards of education in thousands of municipalities.

Military leaders quarreling over the role Peronists should be permitted in the elections have brought Argentina to the brink of civil war twice in the last 12 months and caused nine major governmental crises. The latest came only last week when most of the cabinet resigned.

Peronist leader Raul Matera warned earlier this week that if Peronists were banned from running for office they would boycott the elections and urge all other political parties to follow suit.

Several major parties have declared opposition to bans on Peronists, who claim a following of about 3 million in a total electorate of about 10 million.

Guido said he adopted the decree regretfully because the activities of some Union Popular leaders "are not too clear" and the "government is determined to prevent the return of the Peronist regime."

is a marine plywood, which I had never heard of. Can you tell me whether this is what I should use?

ANSWER: Yes, marine plywood is more suitable. For one thing, it is less likely to split when being bent for the hull construction. Marine fir plywood has slightly different specifications than regular exterior plywood, although many of its features are the same.

QUESTION: There is an old abandoned well on our property which we would like to fill, since we have read about accidents in which people have fallen into such wells. Can you tell us how to fill it?

ANSWER: Abandoned wells, drilled or dug, should be filled with clean subsoil and topped with clay. The earth should be well tamped. Drilled wells should be sealed with a metal cover welded to the steel casing. Old wells lined with glazed tile should be capped with a concrete slab extending approximately three feet beyond the sides of the well. In areas where there is limestone or sandstone, certain extra measures must be taken. A well digger or other authority should be consulted for such individual conditions.

QUESTION: What is the best way to paint the metal on my house?

ANSWER: It depends on the kind of metal. For iron and steel, where the old surface is intact, no primer is needed. Where it is not, remove rust with steel wool and prime the bare spots with one of the corrosion-resisting primers now on the market. Follow with one or two coats of exterior paint. Galvanized steel should be primed with what is called zinc dust-zinc oxide paint or a special type of primer for galvanized metal. Follow when dry with any topcoat.

With aluminum, remove all oil and dirt. Any exterior metal or wood primer will give good service, but in coastal or industrial areas, prime with zinc chromate. Use any exterior paint or enamel as a topcoat.

Copper, brass and bronze should not be painted unless they have become dull. The first coat should be a zinc-free metal primer, then any exterior finish coat. To keep the metallic color, use a clear lacquer.

Spring Planted Bulbs

By EDNA HALLIDAY

There are many summer-flowering bulbs which add interest and beauty to our gardens. Except for dahlias and gladioli, most of them are seldom seen in the amateur's garden, although they are easy to grow.

Shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph is a chart to guide in planting them at the correct depth.

The Zephyr, or Fairy, lilies are pretty, graceful flowers with grasslike foliage. They grow about six to 10 inches tall. In very mild climates they are planted in the fall, but otherwise in April and early May, and lifted and stored before frost.

They are also known as Rain lilies, because they seem to pop into bloom after every rain all summer long. Many gardeners grow them in pots or tubs outside in summer, inside as a window plant in winter. They come in white, yellow and rose colors and increase rapidly.

The summer hyacinth is one of the finest midsummer-flowering bulbs. It often reaches five feet, with spikes carrying large, pendant, pure white, bell-shaped flowers. The bulbs produce a succession of spikes, if the old spikes are cut off as the flowers fade.

Ismene, or Peruvian, daffodils have white or yellow giant funnel-shaped fragrant flowers on two-foot stems. Plant the bulbs early in May and they will flower in June. They are not hardy.

NEW PLAY AT ALLENBERRY

William McKereghan, a veteran of seven seasons at Allenberry Playhouse, is costarring with Ann Willis, the company's ingenue, in the family comedy "Time Out For Ginger" opening at the Bolling Springs Summer Theater Monday evening.

McKereghan is a graduate of the University of Minnesota. He was featured at the Old Log Theater and the Paul Bunyan Playhouse in Minnesota before joining the Allenberry company.

In next week's production he plays a staid banker who needs some sort of creative release and finds it in lecturing to local high school classes on the need for self-fulfillment. His youngest daughter, Ginger, impressed by her father's exhortations, decides to fulfill her own inner desires by trying out for the school football water.

team. Any number of complications ensue, including loss of her boy friend and much embarrassment to her father.

Ann Willis, who was Miss Rhode Island in the 1959 Miss America Pageant and was recently crowned Miss Physical Fitness in connection with President Kennedy's physical fitness program, plays the role of Ginger.

Betty Endruzzi returns for her second role of the season, playing Ginger's understanding mother. Laurel Lockhart and Melissa Wadley, of the theater's junior staff, will be seen as Ginger's older sisters. Peter Ratray and Don Sigmor will provide the male half of the story's romantic interest and Margaret Jamney and Don Draper round out the cast.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By S. F. M. MacPHERSON

MARRIAGE RECORDS OF THE REV. DR. CLARK

Before continuing with the marriage records of the Rev. Dr. David D. Clark, the successor of the Rev. Dr. William Paxton at the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, a few pertinent facts, pertaining to the former, as taken from the files of the "Adams Sentinel," are included at this time.

1. Monday, February 6, 1854 — "Died, at Fairfield, this County, Wednesday morning, February 1, 1854, after a lingering illness, Mrs. Mary Ellen Clarke, the wife of the Rev. David D. Clark, in the 42nd year of her age."

2. Monday, August 6, 1855 — "Married, July 26, 1855, by the Rev. J. Mahon, of Franklin County, Pennsylvania, Rev. David D. Clark, pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church in this County, to Miss Emily Mahon, the daughter of David Mahon, Esq., of Shippensburg, Pennsylvania."

3. Monday, April 14, 1856 — ACCEPTS CALL
"The Rev. David D. Clark, Fairfield, this County, has accepted a call to the Presbyterian Church, McVeytown, Mifflin County, Pennsylvania, and will shortly remove to that place."

"The Rev. Mr. Mahon has received and accepted a call from the Presbyterian Church at Hunterstown, this County. He served this congregation, as a supply, during the past winter."

4. Tuesday, January 16, 1866 — "Death of the Rev. Dr. David D. Clark — Dr. Clark was, for many years, pastor of the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian Church, this County. He died recently at McVeytown, Pennsylvania. He was a member of the Presbytery of Huntingdon and at the time of his death was pastor of the churches of Newton Hamilton and Waynesburg, Pennsylvania."

13. "Married, November 27, 1849, at Waynesboro, Pennsylvania, Mr. David F. Gordon to Miss Ruanab S. McIlvany."

17. "Married, January 23, 1850, Simon Haldman to Margaret Wilson."

19. "Married, September 23, 1851, Mr. James Marshall to Miss S. Rebecca Marshall, the daughter of John Marshall, Esq., all of Carroll's Tract, this County."

20. "Married, March 4, 1852, Joseph Tressler to Miss Catherine E. Greene."

21. "Married, March 4, 1852, Samuel D. Kugler to Miss Ann E. Ferguson."

22. "Married, May 19, 1853, Thompson McCosh, of Emmitsburg, Maryland, but formerly of this County, to Miss Harriet King, the daughter of Abraham King, Esq., of Hunterstown, this County."

23. "Married, August 15, 1853, at Fairfield, this County, Thomas A. McDowell, of Mercersburg, Pennsylvania, to Miss Elizabeth S. H. Finley, the daughter of Dr. Finley, deceased, of Shippensburg, Pennsylvania."

26. "Married, January 10, 1854, John B. Paxton to Miss Margaret White, both of Fairfield, this County."

27. "Married, March 1, 1854, John Knox, of Hamilton Township, this County, to Miss Margaret A. McIlheny, the daughter of Mr. Hugh McIlheny, of Gettysburg, this County."

28. "Married, March 3, 1854, at Fairfield, this County, John N. Linn to Miss Mary Jane Beard."

29. "Married, March 5, 1854, Granville Arthur Stultz to Miss Margaretta Daimuth."

30. "Married, February 6, 1855, Robert McGaughy, of Cumberland Township, this County, to Miss Eliza Orr, of Hamilton Township, this County."

Note: — Eliza (Orr) McGaughy was, undoubtedly, a member of the pioneer Orr family, early settlers in what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania, who gave their name to the village of Orrtanna.

31. "Married, February 15, 1855, James McIlheny to Miss Ann Maria Taney."

32. "Married, Tuesday, May 15, 1855, Matthew VanLear McDowell, of Franklin County, Pennsylvania, to Miss Hannah M. Hall, the daughter of Mr. John Hall, of Menallen Township, this County."

33. "Married, December 25, 1855, Samuel Cobean Jr., of Cumberland Township, this County, to Miss Mary Jane Scott, the daughter of Mr. William Scott, deceased, of Hamilton Township, this County."

34. "Married, February 7, 1856, James Bigham to Miss Amanda G. Horner, both of this County."

This concludes the transcription of the marriages performed by Rev. Dr. Clark during his pastorate at the Lower Marsh Creek Church.

The Rev. Dr. John R. Warner followed Dr. Clark at Lower Marsh Creek in 1858. He remained until 1867. Rev. W. S. Van Cleave came in 1869 and remained for quite a few years. Mr. Van Cleave did a great deal of research on early church history (Presbyterian) in this section and added much to the store of knowledge pertaining to the subject.

One of the early pastors at Lower Marsh Creek was the Rev. John Simmons, who, it is claimed, was born in this neighborhood. If so he probably prepared for college in the classical school of the Rev. Alexander Dobbin. He

The POWER of FAITH By WOODI ISHMAEL

Pretty, pony-tailed Jerrie Cobb has had a fabulous career as a commercial airplane pilot and breaker of world's flying records—something that few women can say. More recently she has passed tests to qualify her for space flight, has become a consultant to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and is a dedicated campaigner for the place of women in our space program.

"With God as my pilot," she says, "I hope to make a space flight."

That is no figure of speech. Faith is a fact in her life—the most important fact! A devout Christian, she attends any church wherever she may be. And amid the turmoil of a banquet or an airfield, you will see her quietly bow her head to say grace.

"God has strong hands which have lifted me high and far," she says.

BETTY WHITE WILL WED HOST OF 'PASSWORD'

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Betty White, much in demand as a panelist in various and assorted games shows, and Allen Ludden, host on CBS' "Password," are planning to be married in Las Vegas on June 14.

Apparently romance finally bloomed on a panel show—but in truth "Password" had little or nothing to do with it.

Betty, a busy and dedicated bachelor girl from Los Angeles, actually met Allen for the first time well over a year ago when she was a guest celebrity on his show.

COSTARS
"But I didn't see her after that," explained the bespectacled master of games. "It really happened last summer when our respective agents got together and booked us to play in 'Critic's Choice.'"

Their first date came when "Password" was originating briefly in Hollywood. Allen and Betty, chaperoned by their agents, had a business dinner together—and then attended a performance of "Critic's Choice."

"Strictly to catch the show, at least at the beginning," added Ludden.

Betty and Allen, after a weekend honeymoon, plunge right in a busy season of summer theater. They'll play together in a straw hat version of "Brigadoon" (Allen Ludden sings "Yes," said Betty, "and very nicely, too.") Betty will be busily filling commitments she made months ago, before the sound of wedding bells was in the air, including a period starring in "The King and I" in St. Louis.

Allen is a widower with three children—two girls and a boy. Betty's home is in Brentwood with her parents.

WESTCHESTER HOME
They expect to make their home a big rambling house in suburban Westchester County, where Allen

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syrian Premier Salah Bitar contends the United States and Britain are teaming with Israel in an attempt to thwart the proposed union of Egypt, Syria and Iraq.

In a statement handed to the American and British ambassadors in Damascus Thursday, Bitar said President Kennedy's recent statements expressing support for the security of all nations in the middle east "were in fact directly aimed at maintaining Zionist aggression."

The premier said his government will "concentrate all its efforts" on strengthening its army against Israel.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Some 80,000 Balinese are threatened with famine because of crop losses resulting from the eruption of volcanic Mt. Agung, the Antara news agency reported Friday.

About 225,000 Balinese lost their farms in the volcanic eruption in March, which killed more than 1,500 people. Distribution of the remaining crops is hampered by road damage and destruction of vehicles which disrupted 60 per cent of the island's land transportation.

Antara said hordes of mice are menacing the crops that remain in the area of the volcano.

3-5 PATIENTS NOT ILL SAYS AMA OFFICIAL

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP) — Nearly three out of every five persons who go to doctors for medical care are not physically ill, says an official of the American Medical Association.

Chances are these person's illnesses stem from emotional, social or spiritual problems, the Rev. Dr. Paul B. McCleave of Chicago, director of the AMA's Department of Medicine and Religion, said Thursday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology at nearby Bedford Springs Hotel, he suggested these nonphysical factors are all forms of sickness with which physicians must be concerned.

MEDICAL CARE
If people think they are sick they may need medical care to prevent real physical sickness, said Dr. McCleave, who also re-was graduated from Princeton in 1890, and was licensed by the Presbytery of Donegal in 1763. He was ordained and installed at Lower Marsh Creek in 1765, and dismissed December 20, 1774. These notes will be continued next week.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

A recent visit in Gettysburg prompts me to congratulate those citizens who have chosen to give character to the appearance of the town by renovating and improving their buildings. I had not been in Gettysburg prior to this visit, but I saw the "before" photographs, the sketches for improvement, and the finished products. My own impression may be compared with how I have felt about the White House before and after its many changes in interior decoration. I am now proud to have our citizens as well as those from foreign countries see the home of our President. I am sure that residents of Gettysburg must feel the same way about their town.

It does seem a pity that the Wills house cannot be restored to its original architecture. Commercially I know it is a valuable property. The Williamsburg shops might serve as examples of how commerce and history can work to gether successfully. The Wills house is the most important building in Gettysburg to the tourist. Treat it as such.

Sincerely,
WILMA SMITH LELAND
Secretary
Leland Publishers, Inc.

commended physicians share with clergymen a responsibility to see their patients enjoy a real fullness of health.

Medical care rendered by a doctor for organic illness may not be enough to fully restore the health of a patient, he said, adding:

"Since man is a total being we must care for his total needs."

In other action at the opening session, an award for distinguished service was presented to Dr. Norman M. Yoder of Harrisburg, commissioner of the Office for the Blind, Pennsylvania Department of Public Welfare.

The award was made to Dr. Yoder, who is blind, for "increasing opportunities for visually handicapped persons."

Birds of Israel are featured on the fourth airmail series from that small nation, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. The lowest denomination depicts the Hubara Bustard, a large game bird which lives on the dry open plains. The Scops Owl, which exists in the hollows of trees, is shown on the next value. The Purple Heron, a long-legged bird which also is abundant in Florida, is illustrated on the highest value. Miriam Karoly of Haifa was the designer for the three new multicolored stamps.

Speaking of birds, the bald eagle, the symbol of American freedom illustrated on the new 6 cents precanceled airmail postal card, is declining in population. This has been the cause of great concern not only to the National Audubon Society, but also to the U.S. government itself. That is why the bird appears on the airmail postcard — as part of a campaign to publicize the dwindling of the famed eagle. Today, federal law provides a maximum penalty of $500 or six months imprisonment for killing or molesting bald eagles. Florida and Alaska are the only states in which the bald eagle now survives in sizable numbers.

Belgium has issued a 1 franc plus 50 centimes stamp honoring the millenary of the city of Ypres. The design features the Menin Gate at Ypres, which is inscribed "To the Armies of the British Empire who stood here from 1914 to 1918."

Cooper's Nerveless Skill Impresses Western Europe

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP)—The cool courage, iron nerve and skill of astronaut Gordon Cooper aroused the wonder and astonishment of Western Europe today.

World leaders—including Soviet Premier Khrushchev—cabled congratulations to President Kennedy. Khrushchev saluted the "Courageous American astronaut" and said his flight had "made a new contribution to the exploration of the expanses of the universe."

Through the evening and into the early morning Europeans followed the last tension-packed hours of his voyage.

WORLD INTEREST

In cities and towns across Western Europe they followed the thrilling story on radio and television links with Cape Canaveral and the carrier Kearsarge.

Today the story was spread across the front pages.

"Gordon does it by the seat of his pants," trumpeted the London Daily Mirror.

"Glorious splashdown!" the Daily Herald cried.

"All By Himself!" ran a Daily Mail banner.

The admiration was accompanied by relief that he had made it down safely after the worry when technical failure in the capsule forced him to drive the thing down himself.

SHARE TENSIONS

Millions of Europeans shared the tension-crowded moments.

On television hookups via the Telstar 2 and relay satellites they heard Mercury Control's report as Cooper fired his reverse rockets and moved the capsule into its re-entry position.

Across continental Europe local commentators translated the Mercury Control reports as Cooper made his descent.

Then came the word his parachute had opened. He was sighted. He was coming down. Then the word they had been waiting for—he was down, safe and triumphant.

FOREIGN MESSAGES

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, Japanese Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda and Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos were among the first to send congratulations to Kennedy.

The foreign minister of the new member of the United Nations, Sheikh Sabah Al-Salem Al-Sabah of Kuwait, interrupted a reception in New York in his honor to congratulate Adlai E. Stevenson, the U.S. ambassador to the United Nations.

Soviets heard brief reports of the flight in early morning radio newscasts. But news of the successful completion came too late for Moscow morning newspapers to print it.

Man Functions Well In Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Astronaut Gordon Cooper's orbital voyage, though a civilian project, was highly significant to the military's space program because it proved man can function with high efficiency for long periods in space.

In fact, the dramatic finish of Cooper's 34-hour 20-minute flight made the performance even more significant.

By piloting his spacecraft out of orbit after automatic controls malfunctioned, Cooper demonstrated an ability to think sharply and react effectively after a prolonged spell in a weightless state.

This capability will be most important if and when the Air Force develops a military space patrol to protect the United States from hostile satellites and sends aloft manned orbiting space stations.

Air Force officers voiced satisfaction with the flight—not only because Cooper is an Air Force major—but because it proved out the soundness of aeromedical concepts even more convincingly than had previous Project Mercury space expeditions.

DEMOCRATS ASSAIL GOP TAX MEASURE

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

HARRISBURG (AP)—A Senate Democratic leader charged Friday that Republican amendments to the sales tax bill make it a general rather than a selective tax.

"This measure is a general tax which will create many legal complications and provide a field day for the lawyers," said Sen. William J. Lane, assistant minority floor leader.

"We also believe that it will provide revenue greatly in excess of what they (Republicans) anticipate," the Washington County lawmaker added.

AMENDMENTS READY

Lane said Democrats planned to offer a dozen amendments to the bills when they are called up for a final vote. However, he declined to disclose their contents.

The House-approved sales tax measure, which raises the rate from 4 to 5 per cent to provide an additional $102.5 million annually, was in position for final passage at today's session of the Senate.

Senate Republicans inserted some minor changes in the measure Thursday before giving it the second of three readings on separate days, as required by the constitution.

DELAY COMMISSION BOOST

Also advanced, but without changes, was a bill to raise $26 million by increasing the cigarette tax from six to eight cents a pack. Majority Leader James S. Berger said most of the amendments were to clarify language.

The most important alteration stipulates that the 1 per cent commission to retailers for collecting the tax will not take effect until July 1, although the increased tax rate is effective June 1.

Berger explained that a June 1 starting date for the commissions would prove a "windfall" to collectors since the first taxes under the rate won't roll in until July.

Berger also introduced a bill that would provide a $200 fine against any person who fails to report and pay the use tax on merchandise purchased in other states.

SLIM ATTENDANCE

Only 25 Republicans and 2 Democrats were on the floor for Thursday's session.

Democrats expected to have most of their members here today.

Berger said he has the required 26 votes to pass the bills in his own ranks, which number 27.

Sen. Marvin V. Keller, R-Bucks, was not expected to attend, because of illness.

HASTY ACTION ASSAILED

Lane indicated the Democrats would count Keller as voting, rather than forcing him to return to Harrisburg.

Lane protested what he called the hasty action of the Senate in

MARY WASHINGTON'S Baking Fun

No need to have "Another Flour" on hand... Washington Self-Rising Flour... the same wonderful Washington Self-Rising Flour you use for homemade hot biscuits makes the sauciest gravy and crispiest fried chicken ever. Tender flaky pie crust and smooth, rich sauces come out of the same bag, too. And just look how easily it is done!

PIE CRUST (2 crust pie)
2 cups sifted enriched Washington Self-Rising Flour
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup cold water

Cut shortening into flour until mixture is coarse. Sprinkle with water and toss lightly with a fork. Turn onto a floured surface and press dough together. Divide dough in half and roll out thinner than for a crust made from all-purpose flour. Fit into an 8 or 9-inch pie pan. For a 2-crust pie, add filling and cover with other pastry round. Seal edges, vent top and bake according to filling instructions.

For Single Pastry:

After rolling dough, fit into pie pan and trim edge one-inch larger than pan. Fold to form rim and flute edge. Prick bottom of pastry with fork. Bake at 425° F. about 10 minutes or until golden. Cool before filling. Makes two single pastries.

SELF-RISING FLOUR GRAVY

4 tablespoons pan fat
4 tablespoons enriched Washington Self-Rising Flour
2 cups milk, soup stock, water, or fruit juice

Blend flour into fat over low heat until mixture thickens. Gradually add liquid, stirring constantly, until gravy is smooth and thick. Season to taste. For a thinner gravy, use 3 tablespoons of self-rising flour.

CREAM SAUCE

Use 4 tablespoons of melted butter or margarine in place of pan fat in gravy recipe. Use milk for liquid. Follow above instructions.

A valuable addition to any kitchen library is the 40 page book containing tests and dozens of other recipes which may be obtained free of charge by writing Mary Washington, 3261 K Street, N.W., Washington 7, D. ## Escaped Convicts Given Long Terms escaped convicts have been sentenced to life and an additional 20 years each for assaulting a Pennsylvania couple and leaving them for dead at a roadside park.

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP)—Two

Prosecutor Jack Ballenger said he agreed not to seek death sentences because Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Evert of Stroudsburg were people of unusual charity and would not support extreme punishment.

rolling the bill only three days after it had cleared the House.

Berger replied that the bill had been before the House several weeks and that everyone had ample opportunity to study it.

Sen. Paul Mahady, D-Westmoreland, declared the bill is "technically incorrect and contains grave errors."

PUSHING PEOPLE AROUND

He also protested that Wednesday's meeting of the Senate Finance Committee to report the bills to the floor was called so hastily that he, a committee member, could not have attended "unless I exceeded the speed limit."

"This bill," he added, "changes the whole concept of our tax law and turns it topsy turvy. Instead of having a selective sales tax, we're now saying everything is taxed unless it is exempted."

Mahady said the speedy movement of the bill has resulted "in pushing senators around," adding "I don't mind that, but I say Gov. Scranton is pushing the people of Pennsylvania around. We are telling the public you don't deserve adequate notice of what we are doing."

JOAN HARRISON IS PRODUCER OF MYSTERY HOUR

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The man's world of television production is enhanced by Joan Harrison, who has proven that a producer can be blonde lovely and gentle-spoken and still create good show.

Miss Harrison has been producer of the Alfred Hitchcock Program since it started eight years ago. When the show became an hour this season, she shared producing duties with Norman Lloyd.

REMAINS FEMININE

She manages to perform her duties without any loss of her femininity. If anything, she considers her sex an asset.

"You'd be surprised how chivalrous men are," she explained. "I find the men I work with try even harder than they might otherwise, in order to please me."

"Yes, I sometimes had differences of opinion with a director. But I never discuss them on the set; that is his own particular realm. I always ask him to drop in at my office, and we talk about it there."

"I think it's important for a producer to make certain that his conception of the story is carried out. After all, he is the one who has selected the story, had it written, arranged the casting and sets. The director can give his own interpretation of scenes, but the producer must make certain that everything contributes to the original value he saw in the story."

BRITISH ACCENT

Miss Harrison's speech is shaded with the cultured accent of her native England. A graduate of St. Hughes' College at Oxford, she studied a year at the Sorbonne. When she applied for a job as secretary to Hitchcock, he was impressed by her knowledge of his work. She got the job, advanced to production assistant and script writer and accompanied the director to Hollywood in 1939.

In private life Miss Harrison is the wife of suspense writer Eric Ambler, and she has had more than her share of household problems in the past year. Their home was destroyed in the Bel-Air fire, and they are just moving into a rebuilt one.

"I didn't mind losing my possessions," she remarked, "because clothing and furs and jewelry can be replaced. The real tragedy was that Eric lost all the copies of his books and his notes for novels past and future."

"However, he was very brave about it. He said, 'If Aldous Huxley can go through it, so can I.' Huxley's possessions were wiped out in another local fire."

Cardinals Seek Pottsville Title

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League plan to fight for the 1965 league title claimed these many years by the Pottsville Maroons.

"Championships are hard to come by," says Charles (Stormy) Bixwill, St. Louis president, "and my brother and I don't intend to give up this one without a fight."

The St. Louis-vs-Pottsville battle will take place at the NFL's annual spring meeting which opens here May 22 Pottsville actually won the title, but the late Joe F. Carr, commissioner at the time, awarded it to the Cardinals on a technicality.

Pottsville made a formal claim for the crown at the NFL's annual meeting in Miami last January. The issue was tabled while a committee composed of Jack Mara of New York, Art Rooney of Pittsburgh and Frank McNamee of Philadelphia looked into it.

All 14 NFL clubs will be represented at the meeting, first official league confab here since the Cardinals moved from Chicago to St. Louis in 1960.

The meeting runs through Sunday when Bishop Fred P. Corson will announce pastoral assignments and transfers.

General Will Be Honorary Captain

"I'm glad this is over," the astronaut's grandmother said.

"But what'll you do when he goes to the moon?" Mrs. Cooper asked with a smile.

At nearby Shawnee, where Cooper was born, his other grandmother said she was too happy to be frightened.

Cora Cooper said, "I was a little anxious, but I know Gordon. The day he didn't get off was harder on me."

My Qualifications for COUNTY COMMISSIONER

One hesitates to publicly relate details of one's life, but the people of Adams County before choosing their county officials have a right to know what each candidate has done previously in order to determine whether or not he will make a capable public official.

Thus I am printing a brief history of my activities to let the public know who I am and what I have done in order to permit you, the voter, to determine whether I would make a proper commissioner to run the million-dollar-a-year business that is our county government.

HERE, FOR YOUR CONSIDERATION, IS MY AUTOBIOGRAPHY:

Born in Franklin Township, Adams County, Pennsylvania on August 21, 1918, and have been a lifelong resident of Adams County.

Received my education in our local schools and the United States Army.

As a boy I spent the summer months working for the fruitgrowers and the local nurserymen.

I entered the service of my country on June 4, 1941, and spent the first year of service here in the States. During this first year I went from Private to Master Sergeant, one year to the date. On June 12, 1942, I left the states for England, spending 27 months in England as an instructor in the Officer Candidate School. I was then transferred to the military government as a liaison officer going from one unit to another checking all transportation; as well as taking personnel from division headquarters to the smaller units in Belgium, Holland and France.

Returning from Europe to the United States as a Chief Warrant Officer, I was finally discharged from the U. S. Army, November 19, 1945. I married Ruth A. Wentz, a former public school teacher, and now am the father of four daughters and one son.

My brother and I started in the Nursery business August 6, 1946, each of us depositing $50.00 and using my father's automobile, wheelbarrow, a rake, shovel, or whatever tools necessary to do the small jobs that we had picked up in the early days of our business. From 1947, our first full year of operations, to 1956, a span of nine years, our business increased nine fold with employment being furnished to eight additional local taxpayers. This is personal but a record of which I am very proud.

I am a member of Flohr's Lutheran Church and have served on the Church Council as Trustee and Treasurer; also a member of the Cashtown Lions Club, serving as second vice president; a member of the Adams County Farmers Association, the Adams County Fruitgrowers Association, the Adams County Fish and Game Association, the American Legion, I served on the Franklin Township Consolidated School Board as a member and President.

I have served our local Fire Company as Treasurer and Trustee and on a Building Committee where we spent $50,000.00 and paid this building off in seven years. Speaking of Fire Companies I have also served our Adams County Firemen's Association as President. I have served as President of the Southeastern Firemen's Association which includes eight counties and I am now serving on the Executive Board.

As mentioned earlier, I have been in the Nursery business in Adams County for nearly 17 years. After being in the nursery business for two years, one is qualified to become a member of the Pennsylvania State Nurserymen's Association and our business was given an invitation to join. By taking part in their activities and attending their meetings regularly, I was approached by a nominating committee as a candidate due to my active participation in the association to serve on the Executive Board of the Pennsylvania State Nurserymen's Association. I was elected to serve one year of an unexpired term and then was re-elected to a three-year term, and I am now serving my third year.

400 JAILED FRIDAY NIGHT

By MELVIN LANG

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—An estimated 400 Negro demonstrators were jailed Friday night in the third consecutive night of mass protests against segregated facilities in downtown Greensboro.

Police, caught short of transportation facilities when 241 students were arrested Wednesday night, pressed private vehicles and a bus into service to move the demonstrators to city hall for booking.

The students, orderly and patient as on previous nights, filed silently into the vehicle and burst into song as the line of cars, padded wagons and bus moved through the city's business district.

Desk sergeants spent most of the night processing the students on charges of trespass or violation of fire laws by blocking public entrances.

Rain delayed the start of Friday night's demonstration more than an hour. The students, all from the state-supported North Carolina A&T College, eight blocks from downtown, waited out the rain in a prayer service at a church near the campus.

Police released those who were arrested for the first time. Cash bonds of $100 were required for those who had been arrested previously.

Y., he was inducted into the Football Hall of Fame in 1954.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Jules I. Bogen, 60, professor of finance at New York University, consultant in banking and finance, and former editor of the Journal of Commerce, died Friday in a hospital.

OMAHA (AP)—Raymond M. Crossman, 76, former president of Kiwanis International and an Omaha attorney, died Thursday of a heart attack in his home.

Writer Says Mothers Goad Daughters Into Marriage

NEW YORK (AP)—"Why haven't I married?" Robert Mirvish repeats the question and smiles. The handsome, square-jawed sailor with a brush haircut answers it at least once a day. "Too self-sufficient, self-centered maybe. Everybody has to come to terms with himself and I know I myself couldn't make marriage work."

Even so, some of his best friends are women, and it hurts him more perhaps than it does them that the single ones are subjected to the same blunt, personal inquiry.

Men in harness ask the question of successful bachelors such as Mirvish (the author of 11 books) in tones that suggest grudging envy. Men pose the question to single girls out of curiosity, he says.

WHY NOT

But women reproach other women with "Why haven't you married?" as if their spinsterhoods were willful derelictions which threaten their own marital hopes or security.

"It's never the girl's father, always the mother who goads and badgers until she marries," points out the writing merchant seaman. "Eventually she succumbs to the incessant pressure until she rejects whatever ideas of personal independence or identity she might have enjoyed, and accepts another woman's eagerness for a family life as her own."

THAT'S WHY

At 13, when most boys recognize the presence of an opposite sex, Mirvish expounded for the first time on the subject in a book aptly titled, "Because of Women." It was never published.

"I looked back on it years later and it was really ridiculous," laughs Mirvish. Yet his sparkling commentary on all that he has learned about women since has made the 41-year-old celibate a favorite target on feminine TV panel shows.

Born in Washington, D. C., Mirvish quit high and went to work in steel mills until World War II began. Then he took his bride, the sea. "The first day I stepped aboard a ship I said, 'Man, I've found a home.'"

That he could write without distractions was an advantage of his new home which swelled his income and enhanced his reputation. Although Mirvish's first try at books was a failure, he never gave up the study of that other sex.

LADY ROOMER

One book, published in England and soon to be reprinted here, deals with women who live in single rooms. "One type is young, and just passing through," says Mirvish. "But there is another kind whom life passes by until her room becomes her world."

Rooming houses remind him of landladies and another inequity between single men and women. "Why is it that if a man sneaks a woman up to his room he is a gay old fox, and if a woman does she's no good?" Again it's one woman condemning another.

"And do you ever notice," he

Negro Clergymen To Get Hearing

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A judge has set June 6 for a hearing for five Negro clergymen charged with trespass when they demanded service at a luncheonette.

Judge J. Sidney Clark set the date Friday after denying a defense motion, joined in by the city solicitor's office, to dismiss the charges.

The five were arrested Thursday when they demanded service at Victoria's, a luncheonette operated by Victoria Smenkowski. She has refused to sign an affidavit of nondiscrimination, required by the city to get a license. Her appeal of the requirement is before the State Superior Court.

The clergymen were attending an African Union Methodist Protestant conference when arrested. Two were from New York, two from Delaware and one, the Rev. John Woodlin, from Ambler, Pa.

WHITTLING FUTURE

Two other questions which author Mirvish is accosted with regularly, however, are peculiarly reserved for single men.

Is he jealous when one of his girls in one of his ports gives up and marries someone else? Not Mirvish. "Getting married doesn't mean the girl's dead. We remain friends." But he is careful to widen the attachment to include the new husband.

Doesn't he worry about a lonely life when he has aged? "I'll just go to Snug Harbor," he says, "and sit out front and whittle boats for little bottles."

He sounds very much like another nonmarrying, whittling merchant marine in Mirvish's most recent book, "The Last Capitalists."

Parades

John Glenn, the first American to go into orbit, addressed a joint meeting last year. Cooper will be flanked by Glenn and the other five original astronauts of Project Mercury.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who announced the invitation to Cooper, said it was arranged both to salute his outstanding space accomplishment and to mark the presumed conclusion of the Mercury space project.

Next after Mercury will be the Gemini project, to put two men into orbit in a single capsule. The goal beyond Gemini will be manned flight to the moon.

NEW YORK PARADE

New York will honor Cooper and his family Wednesday with a traditional ticker tape parade.

The prospect of so many public honors had no visible effect on the calm object of it all as he bounced cheerfully about the Kearsarge, submitted to protracted physical examinations and reported on the wonderful scenic views from 110 to 166 miles above the earth.

Doctors were evidently elated at Cooper's robust physical condition. The brief moments of giddiness, the reddened eyes and husky voice noted when he backed out of his Faith 7 capsule onto the Kearsarge deck Thursday were all gone after one night's sleep.

"BIG OCEAN"

He told the ship's chief petty officers at lunch Friday: "It is a rare privilege to be invited to eat with the chiefs. It is mighty comforting to come down on the big, wide ocean—and it DOES look big even when you're flying over it—to know that you have company."

He explained that he was unaware of his pinpoint landing, and "I didn't know whether I was going to have to spend a day and a half waiting for them to find me or not."

The rap of a helicopter's frogman on his capsule door he described as "like a handshake from home."

Cooper's evening routine included dinner with the Kearsarge officers and an appearance at the enlisted men's movie. He had Friday breakfast with Capt. Eugene P. Rankin, and later these two masterful navigators in two different elements inspected the scorched space capsule.

INSPECTS CAPSULE

Wearing a faded blue flight suit with a "Gordo Cooper" nameplate, the spaceman affectionately patted the blackened side of his vehicle. He and Rankin peered into the cramped, instrument-laden interior and stood on a ladder to look down the neck, nine and a half feet off the deck.

Dr. Richard L. Pollard, head of the team of space physicians examining Cooper, described him as "cheerful, eager and anxious to complete the debriefing with doctors and engineers."

In talking with the doctors and

Gardners Man Is Reassigned By AF

A/2C Ralph L. Richwine of Gardners, has been reassigned to a unit of the Pennsylvania Air National Guard at New Cumberland, following his graduation from the United States Air Force technical training course for radio equipment repairmen here.

Richwine was trained in electronic principles, circuit analysis, service and inspection of high-powered radio transmitters, receivers and related ground radio equipment. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Foster L. Richwine and is a graduate of Mechanicsburg Area Senior High School.

SERVES ON DESTROYER

Elmer E. Rippeon, machinist's mate first class, USN, son of Mrs. Helen M. Rippeon, Littlestown R. 1, is in the Mediterranean aboard the destroyer USS Bristol which joined the Sixth Fleet in that area in mid-April when she transited the Suez Canal.

Into a tape recorder, he repeatedly referred to the clear and gorgeous sights of familiar and unfamiliar landmarks on earth from his tremendous altitudes.

Sailing over the southern United States, he reported he had been able to pick out the Clear Lake district near Houston, Tex., where he lives, but couldn't find his own home because of the trees.

MARVELOUS AT SIGHTS

He marveled at the mighty bulk of the Himalaya Mountains, told of seeing smoke from mountain village houses, and roads in several parts of the earth.

In a single sweep of the eyes he saw the entire Florida peninsula, and far to the north the outlines of Washington or New York.

In South Africa he spotted a small town and also a neon beacon light that was part of the space experiments.

If he saw anything during a total of 30 minutes over Communist China, neither he nor the doctors mentioned it.

Reporters aboard the Kearsarge were not permitted to speak directly with Cooper. His first press conference is scheduled at Cape Canaveral Sunday.

Dr. Pollard related the astronaut's experiences. Among them was difficulty with the condensed foods and the water flask in his capsule. These will be altered for further space trips, Dr. Pollard said.

CAT-NAPPED

Cooper cat-napped repeatedly for a total of about 7 1/2 hours, Pollard said, and had fitful dreams which he could not recall. He was so refreshed by these rests, however, that he estimated he could have gone on for several more than his 22 orbits.

He awoke at one time to find that his hands, which he had tucked into his harness, were extended in front of him. He had been concerned lest he accidentally trip a switch in his sleep.

Air Force Dr. Charles W. Upp said Cooper reported more of a sensation of speed aloft than had any previous astronaut.

This, he believed, was because of unusually good weather conditions around the world, so that he could see the continents and the oceans revolving far below. There was cloud cover at many points during other space flights.

BIRMINGHAM TENSE; FEAR MORE BOMBS

By JACK STILLMAN
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A tense weekend lies ahead for racially troubled Birmingham with threats of renewed bombings reported.

While rumors forecast an uneasy weekend, police chief Jamie Moore said: "We are taking precautions which we consider necessary."

Although he declined to elaborate, armed guards were posted at some buildings which could possibly be targets of bombers. Highway patrolmen guarded the streets, as they have since last weekend's violence.

PHONE THREATS

Anonymous telephone threats have been received by Negro leaders, some white businessmen and various places of business.

In other developments: —Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy said at Asheville, N.C., that damage inflicted upon the U.S. image abroad by incidents like the Birmingham racial crisis is great, but superficial.

—The effects of racial strife here dominated the Alabama legislature at Montgomery as lawmakers voted to stand solidly behind Wallace, who challenged Kennedy's sending of 3,000 riot-trained soldiers to bases in Alabama.

—Birmingham police commissioner Eugene (Bull) Connor urged the people to leave the handling of racial demonstrations to law enforcement officers. He spoke to the Montgomery Citizens Council.

PACT COMMITTEE

—Four Negroes and five white persons were named to a biracial committee by the Anniston City Commission to help solve any racial problems existing in that Alabama city.

—The city of Huntsville, Ala., site of Redstone Arsenal and the Marshall Space Flight Center, hired its first Negro policeman, and the Madison County Commission voted to remove white and Negro signs from the courthouse at Huntsville.

—U.S. District Judge H. Hobart Grooms refused to order the University of Alabama at Tus

LEAVE IT TO GIRLS

Keep sending "Bonanza," "Dr. Kildare," and "Laramie" advises NBC's man in Argentina, Senor Mauricio Goldberg, but please no detectives and no shows about bossy females. "Detective dramas," he says, "leave our audiences in a state of puzzlement because our attitude toward law enforcement is different." And as for know-it-all-females well, "It's not that Argentines rebel against dominating females; they just don't understand how they get away with it."

Gagen, who was formerly a reporter and feature writer for the "Hackensack (New Jersey) Record" was one of three reporters from that paper cited by the Associated Press for excellent handling of the Englewood, New Jersey, school segregation story.

Gagen is American-born and a graduate of St. Peter's College in Jersey City where he majored in Greek and Roman literature.

His wife is a native of County Westmeath, which is about 50 miles from the couple's present home in Dublin.

people like it. It seems she redid the elevator schedule at the 20-floor Hotel Ukraine to speed it up. How? "Well, they were running all six of their elevators as locals. I suggested running three local to the 11th floor and the other three express. At first they weren't going to try it, thought I was joking because I lived on the 11th floor. By finally they were convinced and it worked like a charm. Wonder if they're still doing it?"

She also won some friends with brownies. "They had lots of delicacies of their own, but brownies were different. Curiosity was so great I practically rationed every batch I baked."

Why did it take two months to get that permission? Well as a Russian general told her, "If we Russians said we wanted to photograph everything in your White House don't you think it would raise some questions that would take some time resolving?"

Television Cameras Get Inside Kremlin

Frank Bourgholtzer, NBC newsman and former Moscow bureau chief, is shown checking a camera angle during filming of "The Kremlin" to be colorcast Tuesday, May 21, at 9:30 p.m. This is the first time any foreign film unit has ever been allowed inside the 40-block-long complex that is now part museum, part seat of the Soviet government.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON

On Tuesday, May 21 (at 9:30 p.m.), you can see NBC newsman Frank Bourgholtzer walk confidently up to the Spasski Gate of the Kremlin, open the door and walk right past the guards into the Kremlin. And no, the footage doesn't stop there ... it starts there!

Of all the recent "inside" visits this surely takes the cake as the most astounding ... for never before have foreign camera crews been permitted inside the Kremlin: in fact it wasn't even open to the Russian public until 1957. Furthermore NBC got to many places that are still off-limits to the Russians.

MAGIC WORDS

What were the magic words that open-sesame'd this impenetrable fortress and kept up Soviet cooperation for the "Kremlin" filming even as Soviet Grumblings were rising over other NBC documentaries? Well the magic words seem to be "Lucy Jarvis." The good looking brunette, with a never - but - never - take - no - for - an - answer outlook is NBC coordinator of special programs. She developed the idea, then spent months in Moscow negotiating for final permission, then took on the role of associate producer when clearance came through.

"The Kremlin," says Mrs. Jarvis, "is the symbol of the land of communism but the basic symbolism runs far deeper. It was here that all the Czars were crowned and it was to the Kremlin (a 40-block long complex of palaces, churches and museums) that Lenin returned the seat of government." The NBC documentary will recreate in the actual settings historical events from the Kremlin's beginning as a stockade through the period of the Czars to its modern role as part museum and part Soviet government headquarters.

FIRE OLD CANNON

No dry little room-to-room tour this. The Napoleonic invasion (still a touchy subject in present-day Russia) has been simulated in the actual setting. NBC was even permitted to fire an ancient cannon (in Red Square, in the middle of the night, no less).

Mrs. Jarvis landed in Moscow in June 1962 to a gala welcome by Russian news officials. It was a case of bread cast upon the water returning many-fold; for a year earlier she had invited Russian radio and television representatives to appear in the United States on a program she was producing and it was then that she had first broached the idea of a Kremlin visit.

10-DAY VISA

"I arrived on a 10-day visa," she recalls, "and it was renewed and renewed for exactly five months." Though everything was courteous the wait between steps seemed interminable. Two months had gone by and then "I got an invitation to a party I knew Khrushchev would be attending and I rushed off to buttonhole him. I'd gone all the way up through the line of authority until he was the only one left. For the first few minutes he corrected my Russian grammar (she'd wisely had the forethought to study the language), then he listened to my request for getting on with our Kremlin filming."

After hearing out the pretty brunette he smiled and with a wave of the hand assured her, "Yes, yes, the permission is yours." Two days later she was invited to the crucial committee meeting. "Permission had indeed been granted," she said, "and we signed the contracts."

The cameras and crews came from NBC's Paris base with producer-director George Vicas and shooting commenced.

"LAVISHNESS"

"Once inside what impressed you most?" Lucy Jarvis, looking a little like a fuller-faced Rosalind Russell, didn't hesitate a second. "The lavishness, the absolute lavishness. Versailles seems simplicity itself against the gold and jewels of the czars, gold walls, gold and more gold. Unbelievably rich icons and jeweled altars. The richness is astounding."

Something else impressed her, too. For the Soviet era, she explained, the pageant treatment focused on Lenin's apartment. "While I was there," she said, "I sneaked a look at Lenin's telephone pad. Everything is left exactly as it was when he was alive. He had Trotsky's number listed ... but not Stalin's."

"Surely you encountered a little difficulty in this shrine of the modern Soviet, the Lenin apartments?" I double-checked. "No. Once negotiations were completed there were absolutely no restrictions whatever. We were even using a new kind of Ektachrome color film for which there were no developing facilities in the Soviet Union, and they let us ship out our unexposed negative for developing."

CHANGES SCHEDULE

How did this goodwill work outside of working hours? By now, one must realize Lucy Jarvis knows how to get along and make

Let's Look At The Record

SAM MORISON SAILS AGAIN
It Is A Comparatively Short Voyage
But He Covers Same Seas With Vigor

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.,
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

SAMUEL E. MORISON, Harvard professor, yachtsman, rear admiral, historian and twice a Pulitzer Prize winner for salt water biographies, now batters down the hatches on research and writing that clearly establish him as the greatest naval historian of our century. He is in a class with Alfred T. Mahan and Thucydides. If Morison used more words than they, it is because he had more to write about.

His "Two Ocean War" (Little, Brown and Company, $15) was published last week. His publisher insists this book is "no mere condensation" of Morison's justly famous 15-volume "History of the U.S. Naval Operations in World War II."

True, the new book has a freshness in narration, a speed of movement and bold interpretations not found in the longer work. It nevertheless tells of the same men, the same ships, the same problems, the same battles on the same far-flung seas. It is, after all, a condensation into 585 pages of the narrative he previously told in 1,517 pages. But it is not achieved through clever editing and deletions. It is a new, scintillating, literary work.

When a writer enjoys the luxury of space found in 15 volumes, he can pile details upon details. The most casual reader recognizes their major trends. The author's historical interpretations can be subordinated to the tides of events.

In telling the same story in 10 per cent of the same space, the scholarly Rear Admiral understandably assumes a more omniscient role. Minor events must be brushed off. He must be more obtrusive. The author must bluntly inform his reader of intangible truths at the risk some adverse reviewer may label them as efforts for drama or the mere airing of personal opinions.

In the present book, Admiral Morison accepts the challenge. He comes off quite handsomely and convincingly, with such remarks as these:

"Now came the most decisive moment in a battle filled with drama. . . . The third torpedo attack was over by 1024, and for about 100 seconds the Japanese were certain they had won the Battle of Midway, and the war. This was their high tide of victory. . . . six minutes later on that bright, June morning, three of her big carriers were on their flaming way to death."

ON PERSONALITIES, he is equally forthright: "Captain Miles Browning, one of the most irascible and unstable officers ever to earn a fourth stripe, but a man with a slide-rule brain" is Morison's description of the staff officer who so sharply estimated the timing for the winning, American counter air-strikes at Midway.

And concerning the high command at Midway, "Rear Admiral Frank John Fletcher . . . did well, but Spruance's performance was superb. . . . He emerged from this battle one of the greatest admirals in American naval history."

Though Midway was the turning point of the naval war, the great Battle for Leyte Gulf, October, 1944, is still the climax of naval warfare in this century, and of Morison's histories.

VOLUME III of the earlier voluminous work, "The Rising Sun in the Pacific," was largely devoted to Pearl Harbor. It was one of the first, appearing in 1943. Admiral Morison has changed his mind little, if at all, though there has been considerable, subsequent writing and research on this debate. He does find space to vent his spleen mildly. The bile, however, is for those who accuse President Roosevelt of craftily sacrificing Pearl Harbor so that Japan would bomb America into a united front for an all-out effort in both Europe and the Orient.

For the personalities of that sad affair, Morison reflects a mellowing mood. He adopts the old huntsman's adage that every dog should be allowed to bite his owner twice. The mistakes of Lt. Gen. Walter Short and Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, Army and Navy commanders in Hawaii, did not bite America but once.

For this they were summarily relieved, shelved on the retired lists without a hearing, and denied future service to their country, he argues. On the other hand, Morison insists, Douglas MacArthur, then at Manila, bit America deeper and more dangerously, but he was given grace for a second erroneous bite that happily never came.

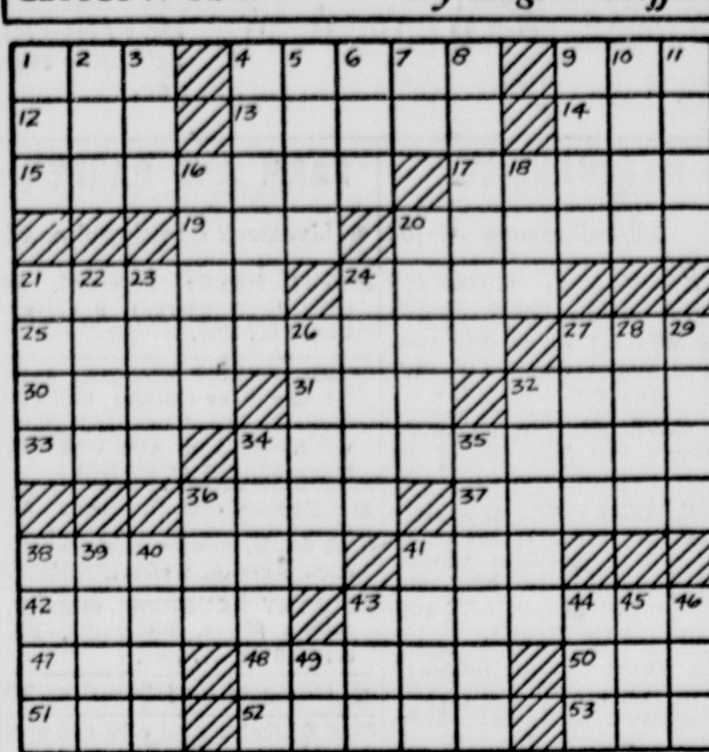

Here, however, the author overlooks the far more convincing prior service record of Douglas MacArthur as compared with Kimmel's and Short's. Nevertheless, he makes a good point by citing others who were allowed "two bites," and were retained for the third that never came. Admiral Richmond K. Turner is his Exhibit A.

Actually, in Morison's present view of Pearl Harbor, there were no villains. All were victims of a faulty system.

"The Two Ocean War" in no way displaces the earlier voluminous, definitive work. For the man who wants details, it is essential. But the new book is a magnificent supplement. Standing alone, "The Two Ocean War" is a compactly complete, robust history. It is seasoned with salt-water. It is vibrant with the roar of seaplanes and big guns. It is terrific!

The Empire State Building is 1,250 feet high.

HAITI FACES U.S. BOYCOTT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has imposed a limited diplomatic boycott against the Haitian government of Francois Duvalier as a sign of disapproval while it debates whether stronger action is advisable.

A State Department spokesman said Friday night that U.S. Ambassador Raymond Thurston and his staff at Port au Prince have avoided all contact with the Duvalier regime since Tuesday.

The spokesman said U.S. relations with Haiti have not been suspended. Thurston is to continue in his post, the spokesman said, pending a further decision on what U.S. policy should be.

The extremes of choice are to deny Duvalier any recognition whatever and thereby sever diplomatic relations, or to accept the fact that he continues to rule the country despite recent strong opposition and a dispute over the legality of his regime.

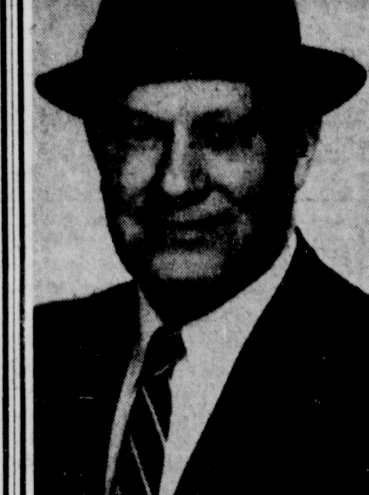

Duvalier's first term as president ended May 15, but he contends he was elected to a second term—banned by the constitution—in 1961.

His decision to continue in office has caused political unrest, met by Duvalier with countermeasures the State Department has described as a virtual reign of terror.

KENNEDY WILL MEET POPE IN ITALY IN JUNE

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy, the nation's first Roman Catholic chief executive, will meet in Italy next month with Pope John XXIII, the ailing leader of his faith.

Kennedy once planned to defer an audience with the 81-year-old pontiff until he makes a scheduled state visit to Italy with Mrs. Kennedy early next year. He changed plans because of the Pope's failing health.

There have been published reports that Pope John has cancer. In recent public appearances, he has looked gray and drawn.

Kennedy is expected to leave for Italy on June 20 and spend two or three days there before flying on to West Germany and Ireland.

NO SITE SELECTED

Arrangements for the papal audience for Kennedy are being arranged in exchanges between U.S. officials and the Vatican. No meeting site has been selected, but the pontiff's quarters in the Vatican or his nearby summer palace, Castel Gandolfo, seem the most likely choices.

At this point, it is virtually certain Kennedy will conduct his working sessions with Italian government officials in Rome. As recently as a month ago, these conferences were tentatively scheduled for a secluded retreat near Milan, in northern Italy.

Milan became the temporary choice following the Easter Monday announcement that Mrs. Kennedy expects her third child late in August. Prior to that, she had planned to accompany her husband on a June state visit to Rome. Now the state visit has been postponed until early 1964.

Today In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

EQUAL PAY: The Senate has passed and sent to the House a measure to require that women workers receive equal pay with men for equal work.

Only eight senators were on the floor Friday when the bill was approved by a voice vote. Sponsors of the legislation said, however, they knew of no opposition to it.

The bill, recommended by President Kennedy, would ban discrimination in wages by reasons of sex for workers covered by the wages and hours law. However, wage differentials based on such factors as seniority, merit or piecework systems would not be altered.

BOMBERS: The Air Force intends to spend $1.2 billion over the next three years on modifications and improvements of the B52 bomber, now out of production.

The aim is to keep the big bomber an effective weapon for as long as possible in an age when emphasis is on missiles.

In testimony released Friday by a House subcommittee, Air Force witnesses said they hope to keep the B52 operational at least through 1971. Costs of the modification program, however, were projected only through fiscal 1966.

COMMERCIALS: By a 4-3 vote, the Federal Communications Commission has proposed to put strict time limits on radio and television commercials.

The proposal—subject to formal action later—would adopt as part of FCC rules the time limitations contained in the voluntary codes of the National Association of Broadcasters.

"With excessive advertising," the commission said, "broadcasting is not in the public interest."

SMALLPOX: The Public Health Service has acted to prevent an outbreak of smallpox in Stockholm, Sweden, from being imported here.

Quarantine stations have been ordered to be especially vigilant in clearing arrivals from that area, the service announced Friday.

SECRETS: Like the boy who cried "Wolf" too often, the Pentagon finds that the power of the "classified" label can be sapped by overuse.

Arthur Sylvester, assistant secretary of defense for public information, expressed it this way before a House appropriations subcommittee in testimony March 27 and made public Friday:

"If the Pentagon classified less 'and then stood firm and clear' that it would not be released, I think that would be a great improvement."

He promised that efforts were being made in that direction.

KENNAN WILL QUIT IN FALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — George F. Kennan, a recognized expert on communism and a top figure in American diplomacy, will resign this fall as ambassador to Yugoslavia.

In making this announcement Friday, the White House said the 59-year-old diplomat is returning to academic life and that no decision has been reached on a successor.

Kennan "has informed the President that he feels it necessary to return this autumn to his academic duties," the White House said, and the resignation is "in accord with ambassador Kennan's long standing plans."

Envoy in Belgrade since March 7, 1961, Kennan took a leave of absence from the Institute for Advanced Studies at Princeton, N.J., to return to government service.

A former ambassador to the Soviet Union, Kennan was eased out of the State Department in 1953 by Republican Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. The reported reason was differences with the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy.

Speaking Friday in Belgrade, Kennan indicated such was not the case with the Kennedy administration.

Recommend Date For GOP Meeting

DENVER (AP)—A recommendation that the 1964 Republican National Convention be held the week of July 13 was made Friday by the party's site selection committee.

It suggested the following week as a second choice.

National Chairman William Miller announced the decision at a news conference. He said none of the seven cities bidding for the 1964 convention were eliminated and that committee members will backtrack to see whether convention facilities and hotel rooms will be available at the time desired.

The committee will meet again in Denver June 20. Miller said a recommendation on the location will be made at that time. It will be placed before the national committee the next day.
